Two women's religious organizations, IBVM and Congregation Jesu, unite

05 Nov 2025 12:57:00

Rome, November 5 (HS): After a long period of prayer, Introspection and review by its members, two religious orders—the Congregation of Jesus (CJ) and the Institute of the Blessed Virgin Mary (IBVM)—reached a historic moment on Tuesday. Fulfilling the long-held aspiration of Mary Ward, the two women's religious orders today became one spiritually and institutionally.

The newly united Congregation of Jesus, with its 1,800 members working in more than 40 countries around the world, is embracing the legacy of Mary Ward, her mission of justice, compassion and service, with renewed vigor. This union is a symbol of peace, justice and unity, where division and inequality are overcome and a message of peace, justice and unity is established. Along the way, members of the two congregations have rediscovered their common calling - their contributions to education, human rights and women's empowerment, as well as their contributions to the fight against human trafficking and their support for the marginalised and neglected in society.

"We are very happy that Mary Ward's long-standing dream has come true today—a united women's society, whose constitution is modeled on the Society of Jesus. Throughout history, and especially in recent years, we have worked closely with each other. This unity is not only spiritual, but also institutionally unbreakable."

Sister Carmel Swords (CJ), former IBVM, said, "In a divided world, we have come together to implement the gospel of peace and unity of Christ. Inspired by the Spirit, we move forward in our mission with renewed enthusiasm. We believe—together we are stronger."
